ORIGIN OF "GARTON"

The meaning or derivation of the name "Garton" by Bardsley, called a Dictionary of English and Welsh surnames, "London, 1901...His data are carefully gathered from maps and old records. He does not offer any explanation for the meaning of Garton. He implies that the first element of that name is the same as Garth or Garthe, which he defines as "yard" or "Enclosure". (Of course the second element "tun or ton" can hardly be anything but the Old English "tun" meaning "Enclosure" as stated by Harrison).

Bardsley says there are two parishes called Garton: one in East Riding, Yorkshire, one, Holderness; the other in E. Riding Yorkshire, near Driffield. He quotes two Garton entries in an English document dated 1379; Willemus de Garton and Thomas de Garton, drapour, et Magota uxor ejus. "Drapour" indicates the trade of Thomas, and the last phrase, means Margot, his wife. Bardsley found Gartons in London, one in New York and thirty in Philadelphia, when he compiled his book in 1901".

A Mr. Garton came from England and settled in Fairfield in Cumberland county, N/J. His oldest son, William Garton (is the only child in our line). He was born sometime in the year of 1695 in Fairfield, Cumberland Co., N.J. The name of his wife is unknown. To this union were born *David (our line), Jonathan and Daniel Garton. William Garton died at age of 55 years in 1750.

David Garton (Our line) b. 1733 and died in 1785 in Cumberland Co., N.J. (our line for DAR membership. His wife's name of Abigail, they were married in 1756 and to this union were born 4 sons, if daughters are not known. The first born son "HOSEA GARTON" sometime in the year of 1760. His wife's name "Damaris"Nichols". Their children Anne b. Nov. 22, 1782, *DAVID GARTON (our line) b. Mar. 13, 1784, Jonathan Garton b. Nov. 30, 1786 and Israel Garton b. Aug. 19, 1788.

David Garton of Fairfield, N.J. was born Mar. 13, 1784 (M-1) Martha Harris and had 8 children by this marriage. (M-2) Martha Rickman -(OUR LINE). By this union were nine children and our line is furthered by fourteen child or 6th child of this union. David Garton was the father of 17 children. David died at age of 69 and is buried in the OLD GARTON GRAVE YARD, near a small place called Amity, SE of Plain City, Ohio.

John B. Garton was born 7-11-1837 in Madison Co., Ohio. He married Asenath Fairfield Morse on 9-2-1858 in Clinton, Il. Asenath was born May 16, 1844, she was born in Union Co., Wilford Center, Ohio. In 1854, John B. Garton came to Illinois and settled in DeWitt Co. where he resided with the exception of one year in Jasper Co. and his length of time in the CIVIL WAR.

John B. Garton was a member of Co. B, 107th Illinois Volunteers under Captain Turner, Colonel Snell. He enlisted August 6, 1861. He was discharged Sept. 28, 1863 because of disability in line of duty, from disability from wounds received in battle. He was a Charter member of the Ansel Tupper Post #714, GAR, Kenney, Il. and for many years its' Commander.

He was a sharp shooter and after the war was over, he was barred from the local turkey shoots because of his superior marksmanship. Sept. 2, 1858, he and Asenath Fairfield Morse were married. Asenath was the dau. of Wm. Bates Morse and Mary M. Johnston, who was the dau. of John Johnston.

As recounted by Asenath F. Morse Garton to her grandson, Fay L. Garton of Blackwell, Okla., in 1920 where she resided until her death; "When John and Asenath were married at Clinton, Il. on Sept. 2, 1858, there was a big political meeting that day at Clinton where Abraham Lincoln made a speech. Because they were newly-weds, they were invited to sit at the table with Mr. Lincoln where there were knives and forks. Lincoln started off the meal by taking a chicken leg in one hand and stripping off the meat with one swipe in his mouth. He tossed aside the bone and said, "Tsk, tsk, that's way we did it in the Black Hawk War. Boys let's go."

According to the "Encyclopedia of American History," Ed. by Morris and Commager Harper & Row, 1952, 1961: "It was during the campaign between the 2nd and 3rd debates, that Lincoln is supposed to have said at Alincon Sept. 2, 1858: "You can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but you cannot fool all of the people all of the time."

The story is also passed down on that day of the political rally when they were married, the young bride helped serve refreshments and Abraham Lincoln remarked she "neither sliced the bread too thick, nor too thin, therefore she would make a good wife."

When John B. Garton entered service he had one child, Lincoln L. Garton-our own grandfather, and one on the way. After John's discharge from the Army, he was too ill to return home. So his wife, Asenath went to Louisville, Ky. to care for him until he could return home. She took the baby, Lester Lionel, leaving the older child with John's sister Phoebe. Asenath remained there for some time until John was barely able to travel and return home.

To this union were born 9 children: LINCOLN LOVEJOY GARTON b. 1-22-1860; Lionel Lester, Lila/Lily Isola; Joseph Henry Silvers; Nora Renuia; Mary Corilla; John William; Winifred Alice who married George L. Fink; Rose Ann Garton.

Lincoln Lovejoy Garton b. 1-22-1860 m. Maria Prather on 3-2-1885 in Astoria, Il. Lincoln was born near Clinton, Il. An interesting note: He was named for his father's Civil War Commander-in-Chief "ABE LINCOLN" and for Col. Lovejoy whom he also served under. To this union was born Clem Logan Garton-our father-on 11-24-1886 near Kenney, Il. and his sister Grace Fairfield Garton b. 7-5-1891. Clem Garton married Anna Luella Fink on 5-5-1910. To this union were born seven children: Karl Lincoln, dec'd; Harold Logan b. 5-3-1912 (twin to) Helen Luella b. 5-3-1912; Frances Iola 5-12-1916; Grace Marie 9-14-1918; Lois Berniece b. 2-15-1921 and Mary Ruth b. 4-20-1925.

SO concludes my genealogy Garton line, especially on the bits of interest on John B. Garton Civil War days, and will conclude with this.

Mrs. Helen L. Garton Stephansen

PS: Lincoln Lovejoy Garton, father of my Dad, Clem Logan Garton. Dad resembled his grandfather (John B. Garton) in looks and build.

Dear Friends I take the present opportunity to inform you where I am and to let you know that I am well as could be expected at this time of the year. We went from Decatur to St. Louis and staid there about three weeks and last Tuesday we got a Board a Boat and started going down the missippi river all was anxious to know where we was going to we sailed down the river until midnight and it got so dark that we had to stop until morning. We started down the river and it screaked from top to bottom the old thing puffet and snorted there awhile and then she got off it. We went on a while and she broke the pump and she had to stop, they had to stop on the Missouri side of the river, we stopped until it was dark and the company that I belong to got off the Boat and marcht up the mountarn separated from each other to watch for the traitors.

We loaded our guns and commenced our search. We was out till after dark but did not find any of the darned tories. the Boat started for the other side and lade there till morning. in the morning we started for Caro. We stopped at Cape Gerrard there is about 5 regiments there, the Boat started again and went down the river about twenty miles and was stoped by a gun Boat and serched. We started again and went about the same distance and was met by a War Stemer which came from Birds Point to protect us down the river. We past a Secession Battery as we went down. We was received at Birds Point with shouts and cheres and firing of Canons. Birds Point is across the river from Caro on the Mo. side, it is well fortified. The wether is quite warm down here it is warm enuf to raise cotton anyhow well I have not much to write today for I am slepy We are expecting to have a fight down here fore long and after it is over I will write again if you want to see the elephant just go down the Missipi river.

Along in 1913 Asenath Morse Garton decided to locate her brother's grave, she was the wife of Civil War Vet, John B. Garton, while living with her daughter & husband in Eddy, Okla., and with their help ut ads in various papers. One helpful letter came from Joseph Ray, Orena, Il. October 5, 1913, as ffs:

"Dear Mrs. George Fink: I note your ad in the National Tribune. I was a private and Sergt in the same Co. with Sergt Morse and the only living member of the 26 still alive of the Company that can give you the information you want, He died in old house used as a hospital. It was bare of curtains, wall paper, paint, pictures, carpet or anything homelike or comfortable. There was a fire place in it so that a fire could be kept. The weather was cold and wet. It was about as gloomy a time as we experienced in the war. I helped care for comrade Morse helped get seasons Oak boards off an old building and helped make a coffin and helped bury him. I know nothing about the iron rods you write about. We cut his name, company number and regiment on an oak board and place it at the head of his grave.

In 1866, the government took all boddies of soldiers up that were burried at Moscow and burried them in the National Cemetery at Memphis, Tenn. If no one molested the headboard at the grave, he should be among the known in the cemetery at Memphis, Tenn. Sergt Morse was a fine soldier. In 1862 we fought the battle of Natches, Tenn. a beautiful Oct. day."

A letter of inquiry followed to Memphis from Mrs. Geo. Fink, an answer was received: 1st Indorsement- National Cemetery, Memphis, Tenn., Oct 14, 1913. Respectfully returned through Depot Quartermast, at St. Louis, Mo. to Mrs. George L. Fink, Eddy, Okla. with the information that the burial records of this cemetery show that Sergt D. S. Morse, Co. A., 41st Vol. died Jan. 23, 1863 and is buried in the Illinois section. The grave number is 97. Respectfully (signed) Joel M. Ferguson, Superintendent. The opposit of the paper is (signed) or back-stamped with a square stamp reading DEPOT QUARtermast, SE. LOUIS, MO.

2nd Indorsement- War Department, Depot Quartermaster's Office, St. Louis, Mo. Oct. 15, 1913. "Transmitted to Mrs. George L. Fink, Eddy, Okla. inviting attention to information contained in preceeding Indorsement, regarding burial record of Sergeant D. S. Morse (Signed) E. W. WILLIAM PENCE - Illinois Civil War Service

WILLIAM PENCE, also known as William N. PENCE, was born in La Porte, La Porte County, Indiana 11 March 1839. His parents, Peter PENCE and Susan(na) (UPDEGRAFF) PENCE sold their property in La Porte County in 1846 and the next record of the family is the 1850 Census of Shelby County, Indiana. His father had died in 1847, so after the death of his Grandfather, George UPDEGRAFF in 1853, his mother sold her land in 1854/55 and followed her daughter and son-in-law to Montgomery County, Illinois. On April 5, 1860, William married Mary Jane WARREN, who was residing with her brother George WARREN and family nearby. Mary Jane was the daughter and youngest child of Druary WARREN whose family was from Surry and Franklin County, Virginia.

When Civil War broke out, William PENCE enrolled at Hillsboro, Illinois, the 7th of July 1861 as a Private in Company E, First Cavalry. His Company was captured in one of the first battles of the War between the States and the enlisted men were paroled at Lexington, Missouri on September 20, 1861 when they agreed not to return to battle against the CSA. They were officially mustered out by order of General John C. Fremont on October 11, 1861. However, William PENCE did enlist again as a Substitute in Company C, 42nd Infantry, Illinois on November 16, 1864 and was officially mustered out November 16, 1865 at Victoria, Texas, with an Honorable Discharge.

William returned to his home in Illinois and resumed farming for two years but was attracted to a farm of his own in Cassville, Barry County, Missouri where he and Mary Jane and their children are listed in the 1870 Census. His application for pension as a disabled veteran of the Civil War, states that Mary Jane (WARREN) PENCE died November 22, 1871 at Hillsboro, Illinois. He married second to Susan Ellen ALLISON, widow of John Greenberry RAY, December 5, 1878 at Big Creek, Taney County, Missouri.

In a combined HISTORY OF NEWTON & BARRY COUNTY, MISSOURI, it states that in 1884, William Pence resided in Neosho, Newton County, Missouri and was a Charter Member of the General George F. MADIGAN

Three Madigan's from Logan County, Illinois, served in the Civil War: Thomas Wm. 106 Il. Infantry Co. G and 14 Il. Cavalry Co. D, Joseph 14 Il. Cavalry Co. D, and John 68 Il. Infantry Co. H.

Thomas Wm. was born in Staten Island, New York, on 6 July, 1845. In 1852 he moved to Illinois with his parents, John and Anne (Gloggert) Madigan. Thomas enlisted in the 106 Il. Infantry on 5 August, 1862, in Lincoln, Il. He was discharged 31 October, 1862, when it was discovered that he was a minor. On 20 March, 1863, in Lincoln, Il., he enlisted in the 14 Il. Cavalry. He saw active duty with his regiment until 2 December, 1863. At the battle of Walker Ford in eastern Tennessee his horse was killed in a charge. The horse fell upon Thomas disabling his left arm. Thomas was then taken prisoner by the southern army. He was held prisoner at Belle Island, Va., Andersonville, Ga., and Charleston and Florence, S.C. On 22 February, 1865, he escaped from the prison at Wilmington, N.C. and was reunited with his regiment. In May he was promoted to corporal and was mustered out 31 July, 1865, with his company at Pulaski, Tennessee.

Thomas returned to Lincoln and made his living as a farmer until the injuries he received in the war made it impossible for him to work. He was then granted an invalid pension. He married Mary Flynn in Lincoln on 7 November, 1871. She died 17 November, 1881, leaving him to raise three children. He married Margaret Walbern, daughter of Jonathan and Mary (Attkinson) Mylan on 17 September, 1883. They were divorced on 20 May, 1893, in Lincoln. He died 25 February, 1925, at the home of his son, Thomas Henry, in Lincoln. Thomas Wm. was buried in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Joseph, a brother of Thomas Wm., was born c.a. 1844 in New York. He enlisted in the 14 Il. Cavalry Co. D on 1 December, 1862, in Lincoln. He served as orderly for Major P. H. Bailhatch, the brigade surgeon. Joseph was captured during Stoneman's raid on 3 August, 1864, near Athens, Georgia. He died of chronic diarrhea on 30 September, 1864, while a prisoner at Charleston, S.C.

The first Madigan to enlist from Lincoln was John. He enlisted in the 68 Il. Infantry Co. H on 31 May, 1862, for three months. At the time of enlistment he reported his age as 42 and his place of birth as Ireland. On 4 July, 1862, he was transferred to the 70 Il. Infantry. He was mustered out 23 October, 1862, at Alton, Il. He is buried in Lincoln at the Holy Cross Cemetery next to Thomas Wm. Madigan. John's relationship to Thomas and Joseph has never been substantiated. It has been proposed that John was the father of the two boys. If the age John gave at the time of his enlistment was correct, he could not be their father, their father would of been 55 in the year 1862. Possible explanations are that John reported his age incorrectly to make himself appear younger or that he was a cousin of the two boys. This mystery may never be solved.

They welcome information from you. If you've identified the place of origin of any person listed in Strassburger-Hinke, please send that information plus the source of your evidence to: Pennsylvania German Society, Box 97, Breinigsville, PA. 18031. News from the Library Corner Census--one of our important records for research--is as old as the days of the Roman Empire. It was to comply with the Roman law that Mary and Joseph left their home in Nazareth to go to Bethlehem. They were to be counted among the descendants of David at the time of the birth of Christ. Since then taking the census has been a practice in all countries under various names.

The following census records--mostly books, but some microfilms--are available in the Lincoln Public Library:

1790 Census Index for Connecticut, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, N. Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Virginia. The 1800, 1810, 1820, 1830, or 1840 Census Index may be found in Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware (which has 1665-1697 Census records), District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, N. Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, S. Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, and Virginia. For Illinois the 1820 Federal Census Index; 1830 (14 counties); 1840 all counties (5 volumes).

For Logan County the 1840, 1850 and 1860 census. Also on microfilm for Logan County 1820, 1830 (includes 51 counties), 1840, 1850, 1860, 1870, 1880 and 1900, also 1910.

1850 census for Macon, Effingham and Edwards Counties. 1870 census for Richland County. Also, Volume I and II of Illinois Mortality Schedule-1860 for the counties of Adams through Knox.

Our next Quarterly will list Cemetery Records.

"HEIRSHIP RECORDS"

We are pleased to announce completion of another research project for our Society. Beginning with this Spring Quarterly of 1983, a supplement will be included containing "The Heirship Records", Journals I and II, transcribed by Lucille Henrichsmeyer and Emily Gordon, from the Records at the Logan County Circuit Clerk's office. Due to the expense of mailing, we will insert only a few pages per Quarterly. Please note we have numbered these pages separate from the Quarterly, and these pages may be removed for separate filing. Extra copies of these records may be purchased from the Society.

The Logan County Genealogical Society will take no responsibility for errors in the original, transcription, or copy of these records. Where error is found, we will gladly make corrections.

ILLINOIS PRAIRIE PIONEER CERTIFICATES

The Illinois State Genealogical Society is now offering Prairie Pioneer Certificates to those who qualify. Certificates will cost $5.00 each and will be issued only after applicant has submitted proof of direct descent from that person for whom the certificate is to be issued. Many of these pioneers have gone unnoticed in history, so this is a way to gather information about them. Eventually the information submitted will be published in book form. In addition to receiving a Prairie Pioneer Certificate, applicants will be helping to preserve the history of ancestral pioneers.

To qualify for a Prairie Pioneer Certificate, applicant must be a direct descendant of an ancestor who settled in Illinois prior to 1880. Certificates will be issued in three categories: Prior to Statehood - December 3, 1818
and 1851-1880

The applicant need not be a resident of Illinois, nor have ever lived in Illinois. Anyone may apply. The certificate will be mailed after eligibility has been determined. A separate certificate will be issued for each ancestor properly submitted.

The certificate features an outline of the State of Illinois with a drawing of a log cabin and split rail fence. Also included in the drawing are the following state symbols: white oak tree, violets, white-tailed deer, cardinal bird, and monarch butterfly. A more detailed description appears with the certificate.

Instructions and application forms may only be obtained by sending a SASE to: Mrs. Reba Mathis, Route 2, Box 36B-1, Troy, IL 62294, chairman of the committee.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- April: Mildred Wickline, local member, spoke on "How and Why People Migrate". We found that very few of our members are "natives" of Logan County. She gave several reasons why people move from one country to another, or from one part of a given country to another part. Migration is usually a reaction to trauma, such as political upheavals, economic conditions, religious persecution, inheritance laws, etc. A very good program and very well given.
- May: Martha Montgomery, Decatur, Illinois, spoke on research in Kentucky. She told how the country opened up to immigrants after the discovery of the Cumberland Gap. Many people from Virginia and the Carolinas came through Kentucky westward, many seeking more and cheaper land. She spoke of the many research sources in Kentucky, such as the Filson Club in Lexington; Kentucky State Historical Society; University of Kentucky Library; Western State College, and the Louisville Free Public Library. "Collin's History of Kentucky" is an excellent source of information. There are good sources in Tennessee--the Archives in Nashville, and libraries in Memphis and Knoxville.
- June: Mildred Devanny spoke on "Using Research Sources and Material in the Illinois State Historical Library" in Springfield. This is the genealogical library and has much, much research material, including states other than Illinois. She gave each a floor plan of the library and explained in detail the location of the different materials available. She told how to use the card catalog, the state files, how to get the desired books, use of newspaper and census microfilm, etc. Mrs. Devanny is very well acquainted with the library and gave us a helpful program in the use of its facilities.

THE DATING OF NINETEENTH CENTURY PORTRAITS

by Bill Evans

(Bill, the owner of the New Reflections Studio, Altamont, IL, gave a fascinating program at our May meeting. This article was requested by several people. Our thanks to Bill for his time and effort. --Editor)

As we delve back into our family history in search of our roots, most of us run across various articles that once belonged to our relatives. More often than not, the family kept a photo album with photos of the family, and sometimes the house in which they lived at the time. Like most of us today, they rarely made notes on the photograph to provide future generations with the information as to when, where and why the photo was taken. Sometimes just knowing when the photo was taken would provide the very information as to who exactly, the person in the photograph is. Because of this, it becomes important to know a little of the history of photography and it's technical advancements. With this knowledge you should be able to make a fairly accurate guesstimate of the date the photograph was taken--in years not days.

The first practical photography process was developed in 1839, in France. It was called a Daguerreotype after the person who invented the process. The photograph consisted of a whitish image on a silvered copper plate that was exposed in the camera (no negative was involved) and developed in mercury fumes. Over this was placed a sheet brass plate to protect the border. A piece of window glass was placed to protect the image and then inserted into a miniature case on the right-hand side. Cases manufactured in the 1840's were made of wood and were lined inside with narrow strips of velvet covered cardboard. This held the image in place and provided a border for an embossed velvet pad, which was glued in the left-hand side with the image on the opposite side. A word of warning here: DO NOT ATTEMPT TO CLEAN THE SILVERED PLATE! Should you do so, you may also clean the image right off the plate.

Okay, now that you know what a Daguerreotype is, how do we date them? They were not introduced into the United States until September, 1840, and were pretty much replaced by ambrotypes by the early 1850's. Now we have the period down to approximately 13 years. Can we take it down anymore? A little. Remember the brass plate covering the image? That is our next clue. The brass plate in the early 1840's to mid 1840's were very plain. They had no decoration and were simple shapes notype of border around the image, just the sharp edge. In the mid 1840's, the shapes became much more elaborate. They became scalloped, or the plain simple shapes developed a ropelike border around the image. The mat itself still remained undecorated. These went by the way as they were replaced by stamped brass plates that were often very ornate (in shape, decoration and borders) about 1855. The only other dating information that I'm aware of is that before 1842, the image tone was usually a silver tone; this later became a brown tone image (about 1842)

The next important type of photography was the ambrotype. This was introduced about 1854 and was popular to about 1870. A first cousin to the daguerreotype, the image was whitish silver on glass. Viewed without a backing, the image appears as a negative. When a black paper backing was placed behind the image, the image turned into a positive. Over this a sheet brass mat was placed (like the daguerreotype) and sometimes a metal plate was placed behind the paper backing. This was all held together by a gold plated protection that bent around the brass mount, the glass image, the backing and metal plate. The completed image was then placed in a case like those used for daguerreotypes. Once again, a warning: DO NOT ATTEMPT TO CLEAN THE PLATE THE IMAGE IS ON. Should you try this you may lose the image completely.

Dating ambrotypes proves a little more work than daguerreotypes as the real secret is in the subject and the case. Patriotic cases are from the Civil War era, and more often than not these images are primarily of Civil War soldiers. (They had their portrait taken before they left for battle so their loved ones could remember them.) "Theme" cases were generally produced after the war, with the early plain cases before the war.

Tintypes (Ferrotypes--Melainotypes) 1856 - 1930:

Tintypes are very much like ambrotypes except they were on a thin metal plate that was painted black.

Introduction 1856 - 1860:

The earliest tintypes were a heavy metal (.017 in.) that was never used again. These will be stamped: Neff's Melainotype. Pat. 19 Feb 56. Sizes vary from approx. what we call a wallet size (1/6th plate) to full plate about 7 to 9½ in.

Civil War Period 1861 - 1865:

Most tintypes of this period were ¼ to 1/6 plate and usually identified by the Potters Patent paper holders, which have patriotic stars, stripes and other emblems. After 1863, the paper holders are embossed rather than printed. Uncased tintypes are sometimes found with tax stamps attached to the backs. These were from the wartime retail tax. This would date the tintype to Sept 1, 1864 to August 1, 1866. This will often be found on cabinet cards and carte de visites, also.

Brown Period 1870 - 1885:

In 1870 the Phoenix Plate Co. began making plates with a chocolate tinted surface. These were very popular with the ferrotypists and as a result the pictures made on these plates became the rage. Another thing that will help us to identify pictures taken during this period is that "rustic" photography became popular with it's pastoral backgrounds, imitation stones, wood fences and rural props. This rustic look, as well as the chocolate color are not found before 1870.

Gem Period 1863 - 1890:

Miniature portraits (about 7/8 by 1 in.) became available with the appearance of the Wing multiplying camera. They were popularized under the name Gem, and Gem Galleries sold the tiny images for what proved to be the lowest price in studio history. Very popular until 1890 when roll film became available and families bought their own cameras. This made possible larger images at a very modest cost.

Carnival Period 1875 - 1930:

Itinerant photographers frequently brought the tintype to public gatherings. New equipment that was much more portable, that could easily be moved by wagon, included tents, backdrops and supplies for a couple of weeks at a fair or carnival. Often these backdrops were scenes that were suggestive of the area.

Now then, while some photography daguerreotypes pursued the path of no negative (ambrotypes and tintypes) others were busy at work making prints from a negative. These negatives were usually sensitized glass or paper. The paper negatives were of very poor quality and as a result never achieved a popularity, particularly in America. Almost all of the photos that we will run across will be mounted on various size cards--each with a specific size and name. They are listed on the next page.

NAME	SIZE	PERIOD
Cartes de visit	4 1/2" x 2 1/2"	Introduced in Europe 1854; in the U.S. & Canada 1859. Popular to 1885
Cabinet	4 1/2" x 6 1/2"	Introduced to U.S. 1866 to 1906
Victoria	3 1/4" x 5"	Introduced in 1870
Promendae	4" x 7"	Introduced 1875

Imperial	6 7/8" x 9 7/8"	Date introduced not known
Panel	8 1/4" x 4"	Date introduced not known.

Extensive production of cabinet cards for the public did not occur until 1880 and lasted no later than 1906. Below is a "Quick Dating Guide" to cabinet cards.

Other helpful information: Each decade in the nineteenth century has its own accessories:

- 1860's - Balustrade; column, curtain (sometimes patriotic)
- 1870's - Rustic, fences, rocks, bridge and stile
- 1880's - Hammock, swing and railroad carriage
- 1890's - Palm trees, cockatoos, and bicycles
- Early twentieth century it was the motorcar (for snobs.)

Retouching began in 1869 in the United States. Examine your card photos for evidence of retouching (under eyes, edge of eyes, blemishes.)

Clothing: A person familiar with nineteenth century fashion may be able to help identify the period.

The Photographer: Research of the photographer (usually identified on cabinet cards and most often on carte de visites) to find out who/when they were in business.

Buildings: If the area is known, a check of buildings to determine where and when built and/or torn down, or remodeled may give a clue.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

July: Jean Hauffe, local member, spoke on "Migration Into Tennessee". Beginning with year 1755, she gave the year of immigration, the nationality of the immigrants and the area in which they located. Migration was usually a three generation project--move, stop, move, stop, move, etc. Rivers and trails were the principle routes of travel. Maryland contributed many immigrants about 1779, with many coming also from North Carolina. It was easier to get into Tennessee from the north because of the mountains.

Aug.: Nova Coseboon, local member and Society genealogist, spoke on research in North Carolina. She cited many books and resources for the researcher. She said that extensive research would often produce Quaker ancestors somewhere along the line.

Sept.: Emily McElhaney, local member, spoke on "Pioneer Life in Ohio", The Western Reserve area with still a bit of New England. This was a large uninhabited area, with many conflicting claims of ownership by different states. It finally became a part of the public domain. Cleveland is the largest city in this area.

Each county in Ohio has information on every woman who came there. Theirs was a lonesome life filled with many hardships. Women were often ignored and had a poor image. It was a life of hard work and early death. It was much harder for the pioneer woman to leave home than for her pioneering husband.

The Reserve area now has many fine educational advantages, including Western Reserve University in Cleveland. Many genealogical records are available here.

The Old Settlers of Logan County, considered forming an organization, but it was not formally begun until October 1, 1873. At that time the Old Settlers' Association was organized and annual meetings could be held.

Every fall the organization met either in Lincoln, Mt. Pulaski or in a grove until the early 1900's.

Some members preferred to be known as "Pioneers", while others requested they be called "Old Settlers". They enjoyed recalling the "Good Old Days". By 1911 few remained, who had been given badges or silver spoons and could consider themselves Pioneers or Early Settlers.

STATEMENT MADE BY
BLANCHE MARTIN

Concerning the Events Surrounding the Christening of the City of Lincoln

FOREWORD

On August 27, 1853, at 10:00 a.m., a sale of lots for the new town of Lincoln, Illinois, took place near what is now the corner of Broadway and Sangamon Streets. The town was primarily the creation of three Central Illinois Men: Robert B. Latham, who later made his home in the new community, John D. Gillett of Cornland and Elkhart, and Virgil Hickox of Springfield, who was also a director of the railroad company.

The new town had been named for Abraham Lincoln, the attorney for the three men. Lincoln was then 44 years old, an ex-member of Congress often employed as an attorney for the Chicago and Mississippi Railroad Company.

One of the most persistent stories surrounding the sale of lots on that August morning was that Abraham Lincoln was present and christened the new town site at that time.

The only written proof to confirm this story is found in a letter written to Judge Lawrence B. Stringer by John S. Stevens dated St. Louis, April 30, 1926. Stevens, who was thirteen years old at the time of the sale of lots, says in his letter:

"On this occasion there were present Thad Davis, a tavern keeper, George and James Glenn, merchants, James and Caswell Coyle and Dr. Patterson from Middletown, and Henry Snyder from near Rocky Ford with a load of watermelons. From Springfield there came with Hickox and Lincoln, three men. Mr. Latham and Mr. Gillett and those residing at Postville made up the entire assembly when Mr. Lincoln, at the request of the promoter of the enterprise, christened the town site. The christening ceremony was very short. Lincoln selected a watermelon from a pile Mr. Snyder had taken from his wagon and covered with his wagon cover near a pile of lumber. We were all seated on the several lumber piles; for myself I had selected the end of a projecting board which would spring nicely with my weight and near where Mr. Lincoln stood. He opened the melon with his pocket knife, which just reached well through the rind, running all around, bumped the melon on the lumber; it opened nicely with all the core on one side. He cut out this core, squeezed the water into a tincup saying, 'Gentlemen: I am requested by the proprietors of this town site to christen it. I have selected the juice of a melon for that purpose, pouring it on the ground. Therefore, in your presence and hearing, I now christen this town site. Its name is 'Lincoln' and soon to be named the permanent capitol of Logan County. I have also prepared a feast for the occasion' (sic). Pulling the wagon cover from the pile of melons, he took one half of the melon he had opened for the christening, laid it on the board before me saying, 'The youngest American on the ground shall feast with me on the christening melon.' Picking up the other half he pointed to the pile and said, 'Gentlemen, help yourself.'"

On April 1, 1970, Mrs. Blanche Martin, a granddaughter of the Dr. Patterson mentioned in the Stevens letter made the following statement:

"Dr. Patterson, my grandfather, and his family were living in Middletown in 1853 where he was a young physician. He was very much interested in Abraham Lincoln and in later years came to oppose Stephen Douglas. One day he went to a meeting (sale of lots) to be held about the formation of a new town east of Middletown (Lincoln). He had heard that Mr. Lincoln might be present and wanted to see him. Dr. Patterson and another man came by horseback.

"While the group was eating and talking, someone suggested that Lincoln christen his new town. After much urging by the crowd, Mr. Lincoln went to a wagon full of watermelons and picked one out. The juice of this melon he dropped on the ground thus christening the new town of Lincoln. Dr. Patterson was about twenty-seven years of age at the time. This account of the christening was told to me many times by my Grandmother Cecelia Patterson (Dr. Patterson's wife)."

ADDENDUM

The following is a brief history of Blanche Martin and her family:

Blanche Adell Martin, the wife of the late Zackie Martin, was born in 1881, the oldest of eight children born to Asbury Ralph Miller and Emma Jane Patterson Miller.

Emma Jane Patterson was born in 1858, the fourth of five children born to James Cope Patterson, M.D., and Cecelia Almeda McCalley Patterson. Cecelia Almeda McCalley was born in 1824 in New York and died in 1917 in Logan County, Illinois. She married James Cope Patterson, M.D., who was born in 1825 and died in 1871.

Upon the death of Dr. Patterson in February 1871 at Mason City, Cecelia Almeda Patterson, his widow, after living on the home place for several years, made her final home with her daughter, Mrs. Emma Patterson Miller. Mrs. Patterson had this residence from 1899 until her death in 1917. Emma Jane Patterson Miller's husband had died in 1897 leaving his widow and six girls. The oldest girl, Blanche Adell Miller Martin, was born in 1881 and lived with or near her grandmother from age 18 to age 36, a period of 18 years. Blanche Martin's grandmother, Mrs. Cecelia Almeda Patterson, thus lived from age 75 to death with or near Blanche Martin, who has made the above statement. Mrs. Martin states that her grandmother was in excellent health in body and mind to the last days of her life.

The account of the christening of the city of Lincoln was told by Mrs. Patterson to Blanche Martin at various times over a period of eighteen years commencing in 1889 and ending in 1917. This would include a period of Mrs. Martin's life while she was in her 20's and 30's.

It is important to note that the only written account of Abraham Lincoln's christening the city with the watermelon was dated 1926, or nine years after the death of Mrs. Patterson. Mrs. Miller states that her grandmother never mentioned any knowledge of the young Stevens boy who wrote the letter, or of any other written account.
